

Tracey Fuller has a Bachelor of Music Education Degree from Georgia State University.

9 years as church pianist at Emmanuel Baptist Church in Riverdale
15 years of private and class piano/keyboard teaching
41/2 Years of teaching General Music at Adamson Middle School
13 years of directing adult choirs, youth choirs and children's choirs
8 years of home schooling her children and other children
17 years of leadership worship directing worship teams

Work History:

1982-1991: Church pianist at Emmanuel Baptist Church in Riverdale
1987-1992: Piano Teacher, Private lessons
1991-2004: Director of music program at Tara Baptist Church in Jonesboro
1992-1996: Middle School General Music teacher at Adamson Middle School
1996-2000: Private and Class piano instructor at Harmonies Music studio
1996- Present: Home school teacher to her own children as well as other students
2004-2006: Private class piano instructor at Harmonies Music studio
2004-2007: Co-Worship Leader at Crossway Community Church in McDonough
2007-present: Co-Worship leader at Journey Pointe Church in Locust Grove

Education: Bachelor of Music Education with a concentration in piano and voice from Georgia State University.

Personal Information:

Age: 40

Mother of two children, Megan 13 and Trey 8

Married for 18 years to Jay Fuller, Pastor of Journey Pointe Church, a new church plant in Luella, where she is one of the worship leaders.

Tracey enjoys teaching children of all ages, teaching music, as well as writing, arranging, singing and playing music. Her home school teaching experience covers children from grades k3 to 7th grade.